Most of what you eat at home you can find in South Africa. Anything from pizzas, burgers to salads.

At the lodges they prepare a mix of traditional and standard meals for guests.

The fruit and vegetables in South Africa are sold fresh at the local markets and in the super markets. They've been hand picked and taken straight to the market. No frozen fruit here.

If you ever have any questions about the food please ask your guides. We are here to help.

If you want to be more adventurous and try South African dishes, check out our traditional page.

On the next few pages you will find examples of menus from local restaurants. The prices are given in South African rand (ZAR).
